When the 82nd District Court at Marlin adjourned Monday afternoon, eleven jurors for the Morris Spriggs case had been chosen. Three of the jurors were negroes. Life for the third time in the 82 District Court at Marlin, Judge John He went on trial Monday for his C. Patterson presiding.

Spriggs was tried first in Cameron in 1954 for the murder of Taso Dorsey, another Cameron negro and given a life sentence. Defense attorney Jack Prescott appealed and the case was reversed.

Spriggs went on trial again in April 1955 in Milam County District Court but after a week of trying, the district judge O. D. Graham ruled it would be impossible to get a jury in Milam County and ordered a change of venue.

The case was moved to Marlin and at 1:30 p.m. Monday, six jurors had been selected out of a special venire of 195 including 12 women. All the women were

Milam County's Deep Wildcat Test Abandoned At 12,670 Feet

Milam county's deep wildcat was abandoned late last week after being drilled to 12,670 feet and causing considerable comment and mystery.

Putting the "Halliburton Christmas Tree" on the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company's fee wildcat did not cut down the rumors—at least not immediately. No information had been released while the well was drilling and apparently none was to be released any time soon.

Some report have it that Texas Gulf Sulphur expects to drill another deep wildcat - and some say as many as three more - before any information on the No. 1 is released.

Bob Nelson said that charges were being filed against L. H. Hill for selling beer to minors.

Sheriff Black said that three of the four boys had admitted the vandalism. They told Black that one of them had bought some beer from "The Wheel", a tavern just north of Pettibone. They were riding around drinking the beer when they passed the cemetery and the tombstone pushing started. Black said that they had no system or reason for their act, but just pushed over the stones at random.

All of the boys have been released to their parents. Black said that fines may be assessed against two of the boys and that one was released with no charges because he is entering the navy Monday.

Sheriff Carl C. Black reported Friday morning that four minors had been picked up and had admitted pushing over a number of tombstones last week in Cameron's Oak Hill Cemetery.

In connection with the same case, Black and County Attorney

Odin Hilderbrandt, highway patrolman, reported two highway accident victims for Milam County Monday night.

Hildebrandt also reported that at 1 a.m. Monday, three miles south of Rockdale on highway 77, a car load of Mexicans overturned as they attempted to make a curve going off the left side of the road. The driver, Louis Gonzales, 30, Laredo, Texas, was pinned beneath the car and was killed instantly. He was driving a 1950 Plymouth. He worked for the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company.

Jesus Goveia, 28, Laredo is in Scott & White hospital, Temple, seriously injured from injuries sustained in the mishap.

Others in the car were John, 28, and his brother Jesus Feuntes, 31, and Ysaruro Hernandez, 33, who received minor cuts and bruises.

Sparks Fly As City Dads Cross-fire Verbal Controversy

Talk veered close to the edge of personal criticism and arguments at the conclusion of the regular City Council meeting Tuesday night.

The situation of councilman against councilman and city engineer arose when, at the presentation of a resolution needing to name engineers for the new Culpepper addition, Clifford Thompson once again broached the matter of changing engineers.

After asking J. Thomas Kelly, city engineer, to wait outside until the conclusion of the talk, councilmen discussed the why's and wherefore's of keeping or changing engineers. Robert Weems vehemently demanded that the matter of changing remain tabled until a full council was present since Grady Stidham, head of the street committee was absent due to illness.

Kelly was then asked back into the council and told of the council's decision to wait for a full council to decide on an engineer for the proposed street projects throughout the city or any other projects.

Later, after several other matters had already been taken from the agenda and hashed out by councilmen, Kelly addressed the council.

He started his dissertation, calling no names, but insinuating pointedly, with the statement, "I have something on my mind." He continued that engineers, particularly those working for municipalities are often the victims of circumstance. He then stated vehemently, "I don't play politics," adding that it was a high compliment to the present and past councils that they had never requested any personal favors from him....adding that he had never offered any.

"I can tell a story that could come home to any of us not practicing discretion," Kelly related, continuing, "It's about a free lancer who was in the practice of saying anything he chose about the city engineer." He concluded his story with the fact that the engineer sued the freelancer for some $300,000 for slander, adding, "THAT kind of talk carries a price tag on it."

After a few minutes of perfect quiet, Thompson asked in a jovial tone, "You are not talking about Cameron, are you?" Kelly stated darkly, "I'm not calling any names, but I could." Thompson, with a shrug, said, "Well, it's quite obvious that everything I tell the councilmen gets right back to you." With no hesitation he added that engineers should stay out of politics, that all engineers come and go and if they get involved in politics they usually go, sometimes at their own will and sometimes not.

Kelly retaliated that he had always given Cameron the best quality of engineering at a fair price and intended to continue to keep it that way. He said that he assumed that individuals took his relationship with Robert Weems the wrong way, that they had been associated on city business for many years and when they were talking it generally involved streets, their improvement and maintenance.

He had earlier stated that he had never, and would never, enter into a collusion with any contractor.

After a few words were exchanged between Thompson and eems Thompson called a halt to the conversation with, "Oh, let's quit this arguing and go home."

Councilmen then paid Kelly the compliment of stating they were ready to take a vote on keeping or changing engineers, BUT they saw no reason for changing unless an engineer that could be on hand all the time could be hired.

Weems still insisted that since Stidham worked so closely with the engineer that the matter be tabled until he could be consulted. Other councilmen agreed.

At the beginning of the meeting Bill Black, local attorney, presented a new petition for the annexation of the Culpepper addition to the city since on the original petition one street was omitted.

Councilmen voted a unanimous "aye" at the accepting of the one-half mile plot into the city, agreeing to furnish water and sewer facilities.

Black then presented a resolution, which was approved, changing the name of Clearview Street to Country Club Drive.

Kelly then brought out that final plans for paving the sections of street in front of the school had been completed and the contractor will move in his equipment on Aug. 20, with a completion date set at September 1.

He added that he thought it would be wisest to wait 30 days to top the portion of street leading from 12th to the Athletic Stadium, and give the base coat a chance to settle.

Talk on the other streets proposed for paving was then brought before the council, with Kelly informing them that the first step to take would be to get plans and specifications from various firms, pass an assessment and then advertise for bids. The city attorney, Roy Baskin, agreed that this was the correct procedure to take.

Councilmen were then advised by Kelly that the manner of financing the project which would prove least expensive to the individuals on either side of the street would be to place their money in escrow, instead of letting the contractor handle the financing.

It was decided to let each bidder on the project turn in two bids, one for cash, and one on time.

An ordinance turning the street portion of the John B. Henderson subdivision back to Henderson's ownership was then passed.

A delegation from the Mexican residents in this immediate area then appeared before the council. They reported they had bought 10 acres of land from Louis Roska and asked that the city put water out to the location and help build a road, the council agreed to help in any way they could.

A copy of a letter from Judge Charles C. Smith, Jr., to the State Welfare Department, stating that the county would not supply further funds than they already had allocated for the support of the local Welfare office was read.

At a previous meeting the council voted to discontinue their financial support of gas, janitor service and janitorial supplies to the office.

Each of the councilmen then chose one party, from which right of way along Highway 36 is needed, to contact for the the last time to make a proposed settle ment.

The five remaining places to contact are Mrs. Striznik, the Gospel Tabernacle, the Presbyterian Church, Dr. Hubert and the Mark Burns Funeral Home.

During the regular reports Thompson stated that the recent water shortage had subsided, with the Mayor judiciously stating that the only time to sell water was

Milam County Gets 3.60 Inch Soaker

The year's rainfall was hiked another 3.61 inches as a dawn down pour flooded the streets in both residential and downtown areas. Rain began falling shortly before 5 a.m. in this area with thunder and lightning rampant.

Reports from surrounding areas indicate that some three inches or more fell in these areas with some wind damage to trees in some sections.

Buckholts, Yarrellton, Marlow, Pettibone communities received about three inches.

The rain was believed to be general over the entire county but reports from one or two sections indicated only about an inch and a half fell.

Showers were reported for the day with cooler temperatures. The low for the night was 70 with a high of 97 reported for Wednesday.

The total for the year is 24.15 inches. This figure includes 3.61 inches that fell Thursday.

The rain will stop cotton picking for three or four days in this area. One farmer from Yarrellton said it would be Monday before he would start back to picking. He said he had a number of migratory laborers that had come in from south Texas but his housing facilities were inadequate.

Shortage of houses has been the main drawback for laborers coming into this area each year. Some landlords have adequate housing

Cardinals Lose Game To Missions Sunday 8-7

The Cameron Red Cardinals played the Waco Missions in Cameron last Sunday Aug. 14, losing to the Missions by a score of 8 to 7, but not until they had fought the mound for 11 innings.

In the top of the ninth Cruz Lopez got a hit. With Reyes on base, Glen Rosenberg came to bat hitting a home run and tying the score, 7 to 7.

Managers Angelo Castro of the Missions and Henry Mendoza, Jr. of the Cardinals decided to play the necessary extra innings.

Finally in the 11th inning the Missions broke the tie to end the game with the Missions on top by a score of 8 to 7.

The pitcher for Cameron was Glen Rosenberg who pitched all 11 innings. Jimmy Rettig was the Cameron catcher.

Support Rates Are Cut on 23 Wheat Varieties

The Agriculture Department this week slashed next year's wheat price support rates 20 cents a bushel for 23 designated varieties. It did so because of their poor milling or baking qualities.

The cut will not affect the national average 1956 wheat price support rates of $1.81 cents per bushel. Support for other varieties will be raised slightly to keep the overall average unchanged, the department said.

The discount for lowgrade varieties grown in designated states were ordered as part of Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's effort to improve the quality of the nation's wheat crop and cut into the billion bushel surplus.

2,492 Bales Cotton Ginned In Milam Up To Thursday August 18

Late Wednesday afternoon the 11 cotton gins in Milam county reported that cotton was coming in fast from all over the county, with 2,492 bales ginned so far. Operations were slated to come to a standstill Thursday however, due to a hard 3.60 inch rain over most of the county.

Ginners reported that the rain would probably cause some stain damage to the staple of cotton remaining in the fields and could cause some decrease in the grade value of bales to come.

Gin reports from over the county are: In Cameron, Farmers Gin: 377 bales; Matyastik Gin 329 bales and Weems Gin, 187 bales; Matyastik Gin in Clarkston, 200 bales; Frank Wazzel, at the gin in Yarrelton, reported that so far 150 bales have been ginned, with most of the cotton averaging middling 15-16. He said they are expecting some 900 bales through, in comparison with 700 bales last year.

F. H. Wied, at the Wied Gin in Burlington reported that 185 bales have been ginned to date, with the staple running from 29-32 to 15-16. They are expecting about 900 bales through during the cotton season, which most ginners say should be completed by the middle of September. Tely ginned about the same amount last year.

M. W. Peeler, manager of the Farmers Gin in Burlington, reported 137 bales already processed, stating they just started ginning this week. They are expecting over 2,000 bales through this year in comparison with 1,906 last year.

Nelson Davis, manager of the Davis Gin in Sharp, reported 300 bales ginned, expecting some 1,500 bales through during the season. Last year from 11 to 1200 bales were processed at the gin. Average staple is running about the same as most other places over the county, a middling 15-16. Davis said he would call this a fair crop this year, but still not quite up to average.

Dean Stiles, spokesman at the Red Gin Thorndale, where A. T. Carlson is manager, reported 160 bales ginned and are expecting at middle of September. They ginned in comparison with 11 to 1200 bales last year. Stiles said that cotton least 2,000 bales through this year, at this gin comes from so diversified a field, hilly, rocky, low and bottom land, that no average staple has been ascertained. Some of the bales have an exceptionally short staple while others run up to 1 and 1-16th.

Rockdale Bond Issue Passes With Little Opposition

There was little opposition and a light vote at Rockdale Saturday as a $150,000 bond passed.

The issue proposed the issuance of $125,000 in revenue bonds and $26,000 in tax bonds.

Included under the revenue bonds will be $100,000 for the purpose of constructing extensions and improvements of the Rockdale Waterworks system and $25,000 for the purpose of constructing extensions and improvements of the sanitary sewer system of Rockdale.

The $25,000 tax bonds will be used for constructing street, improvements in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Price have been visiting in Cameron.

Max Hengst, manager of the Thorndale Co-op Gin, which just started operation this week, reported 227 bales ginned and said they are expecting just a little more than the 1,087 ginned last year. Average staple grades are running from 7-8 to 1 and 1-16th, Hengst said.

It was reported that the San Gabriel Gin is not yet in operation. Most of the ginners, who were depending on dry weather, said that although the rain didn't do too much damage to the crops it would delay the completing of the season in the area since drying time will have to be allowed for before picking can resume. It is expected by most of them that cotton pickers will remain idle during the rest of this week and picking start again next week.

Centex TV Station Now With Maximum Power

Central Texans can now boast a television station with the maximum power permitted under government regulations.

Starting this week, KTBC-TV Austin on Channel 7, is transmitting on 316,000 watts maximum of electrical energy.

It means for viewers throughout the 25 counties served by KTBC-TV a clearer, sharper picture than they have been getting.

The general manager of KTBC-TV, J. C. Kellam, explained: "This stepped up power was installed not with the thought of greatly extending the distance of our signals, although they will be slightly extended. The chief purpose was to give better television viewing to all of the 128,981 sets which now receive Channel 7 regularly."

The power now used to send out the sound and pictures to all Central Texas was achieved, Kellam said, in a series of steps. KTBC-TV went on the air nearly three years ago with 20,000 watts of power. Earlier this year, viewers were given a bonus with a stepup to 245,000 watts. Each of these steps has meant the installation of expensive new equipment, Kellam said.

"We are proud," Kellam said, "to bring Central Texas another 'first'. KTBC-TV was the first in this area to transmit in color television programs in color, now we are the first to go to the maximum power permitted under regulations of the Federal We certainly hope this brings us a better picture to all within our area, and would be glad to hear

Press Radio TV Day Set For Monday, October 3 At Heart O' Texas Fair Waco

Several hundred guests are expected for Press-Radio-TV day, Monday, Oct. 3, at the Heart O' Texas Fair in Waco. They will attend the performance that night of the world's championship rodeo starring the Cisco Kid (Duncar Renaldo), Western hero of movies radio, TV and newspaper comic strip.

Other events of the Southwest's second largest fair that day include a folk festival on the big outdoor stage, style show on the stage in the Woman's Building, spectacular outdoor thrill act, and hundreds of cattle, sheep and swine, including the entries of the 4-H club members and Future Farmers.

The Coliseum, next to the biggest in the State, is the scene of the only indoor rodeo in Central Texas. R. A. Cox, well-known Waco business man, is president of the eventive vice president. Dates of the fair are Oct. 1-7.

Pete Tumlinson of Fort Worth, Dr. and Mrs. Bob Tumlinson and daughter Diane and son Jay and Randall were weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tumlinson and Col. and Mrs. O. G. Tumlinson.

Kellam pointed out that the high power installation was made just prior to the new fall season when all indications point to the most elaborate TV shows in history. KTBC-TV transmits shows from the CBS, NBC and ABC networks.

COUNCILMEN—

when people wanted it and that the river was full of it.

Griffith, always openly on the side of improving the water in Cameron, said, "Yeah, there is plenty of water if we can get the mud out of it."

Milton Schiller, in like manner, said, "Yep, we've got to get the wiggletails out of it."

Once again, at this point, the matter of a filtration plant, was brought up, and once again, the matter was tabled.

Following Kelly's talk to the councilmen, it was then voted to add a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the culprits who mutilated and overturned from 15 to 16 tombstones in the city cemetery.

It was then voted to allocate necessary funds to the Fire Department to launch their Fire Prevention campaign, with Griffiths authorized to meet with them. They also voted to repair the pump and motor of the fourth City Fire truck, if the price is feasible and the bill submitted no earlier than November 1.

All councilmen voted aye except Schiller, who said he was not for repairing any old merchandise.

Migratory Labor Using Shed Built By Chamber-Bureau

The Cameron labor shed that was jointly erected four years ago by the Milam County Farm Bureau and the Cameron Chamber of Commerce is proving to be helpful for assisting placement for migratory laborers for Milam county farmers.

Shower facilities are provided for the workers that used the shed for overnight purposes until they can be located on a farm.

The shed was built at a cost of $1,500 and has served laborers for its designated purpose. Several tenants have reported that they have been unable to secure houses for pickers. Some have rented houses in the city for their pickers to live in during the cotton season. There is still a need for more houses for pickers. Farmers who have more than adequate housing facilities are requested to call the Farm Bureau office, 920 and list your houses that are available for use to other farmers.

Firemen Called To Kubecka Farm; Light Damage

Volunteer firemen were called too late to save the Vince Kubecka small barn holding about 60 to 70 bales of hay Wednesday afternoon, but did keep a larger barn, located about 12 feet from the small building from receiving any damage by fire.

Fire Chief Joe Richter, reported that since there was no water supply available the firemen had to depend on booster tanks, but had the flames extinguished in about 25 minutes.

Although the definite cause of the fire is unknown it is assumed that it was started by combustion. Damage was estimated at $200.

Rev., Mrs. Jones Conclude Revival; To Go To Canada

Rev. and Mrs. Sidney Jones and son left this week for a few days vacation at Gunnison, Colorado. From there they plan to go on to where they will conduct another revival.

Rev. and Mrs. Jones, recently concluded a revival at the Gospel Tabernacle Tent at the City Park in Cameron. They were here last year for a revival. They have made many friends here in the city.

Yoemen Gridiron Practice Begins Monday; 1955 Season Looks Bright

The Yoemen are in for some stiff drills during the early part of the season. Coach Leo Jackson indicated. While only one heavy practice session is scheduled each day - and that under lights, the candidates for positions on the Yoe team are not going to get off lightly. Jackson and Assistant Dick Young will have the backfield candidates at work in shorts during the morning, and during the afternoon signal callers will be at work under Jackson's guidance. The entire squad will suit out daily at 6:45 p.m. for an hour-long black-heavy workout until 9:45 p.m.

70 Cameron Candidates
Jackson expects some 70 candidates to report Monday. The Yoe-board drill, then take the field for men have 12 returned lettermen, headed by Buddy Thompson, a fleet back, and Clifford Angel, a stout defensive back last year who will play both ways this season. In the Yoe line will be Paul Hoelscher, all-district guard last year and Tom Collins, two-year letterman at center.

The Yoemen shared the district crown with Georgetown last year and represented the 23-AA loop in bi-district play with Killean, the state AA finalists. The entire district is figuring Cameron a strong contender to repeat.

The picture at Rockdale on the eve of the opening of the 1955 season is not outstanding. Only five lettermen are listed on the roster, and reports from the District's newest member indicate only three of them will be on hand Monday to check out uniforms. Coach Wanie Miller plans sessions at 6 p.m.

Rosebud Drills
Rosebud's Black Panthers hit the practice trail Monday with nightly sessions beginning at 7:30 p.m. Coach Bill Duncan said a number of his candidates will be in the cotton fields and doing other jobs, making it impossible to work out during the day.

The Panthers are expected to show up Monday night 40 strong, ready to follow their tiny-mite quarterback, Cleve Sapp, for an other season. Duncan's backfield is in good shape this year. Besides Sapp, he has heavy running Johny Marek who will be shifted to fullback slot from his favored halfback position.

In the line, Duncan has tackle Charles Plocek as a key man.

Joe Hawkin is assistant coach. He is a former Yoeman.

Belton Early Favorite
Belton's Tigers, selected as the pre-season favorite at the Texas Coaching school early this month, will turn out about 50 strong Monday. Coach John Hugh Smith has set up two two-hour drills daily for his charges, beginning at 8 a.m. and at 4 p.m. Skull practice will be worked in throughout the day, Smith said.

With 10 lettermen returning from last year's club, the backfield appears strong and the line spotty. Jimmy Mecom, a unanimous selection on the All District team last year, Buddy Cooper and Kenneth Beerwinkle will give the Tigers a solid foundation in the backfield while lettermen Bobby Cline, 230-pound tackle, Don Cast, center, and Roger Furnace, guard, form the nucleus for the Tiger wall.

FARM SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

In my last article, I stated that a self-employed farmer for social security purposes is a person who operates a farm either as an owner, lessee, or renter. The way in which you pay for the use of the land which you do not own does not matter. It may be money rent or any other kind of rent. A common non-cash rental arrangement is the share-renting arrangement under which the share-cropper pays a share of the crop or livestock raised to the landowner for the use of the land.

For social security purposes, a share-cropper is considered a self-employed farmer. By "share-cropper" I mean a person who undertakes to produce a crop or livestock on another person's land with the crop or its proceeds to be divided and with the amount going to each depending on the amount of the crop or the number of livestock produced.

To be self-employed, a share-cropper must have the responsibility for the production of a crop during the growing season. Moreover, the share-cropper's arrangement with the farm owner must be one whereby the share-cropper's earnings from operating the land are a percentage share of the total crop produced or livestock he raises.

While a self-employed share-cropper is one who enters into an agreement to produce a crop or livestock on land belonging to someone else, it is not necessary in all cases that he do every part of the job. For example, a landlord may have planted or set out the fruit trees, bushes, or plants in former years and turned over their cultivation and care to the share-cropper. In another situation, the landowner might undertake to harvest or sell the crop produced by the share-cropper. Neither of these circumstances would prevent the share-cropper from being considered self-employed.

The phrase "to produce a crop or livestock" does not mean that a share-cropper must necessarily assume responsibility for paying the expenses of raising or harvesting the crop. Seed, feed, fertilizer, tools, machinery, insecticides, etc. may be shared or provided entirely by the farm owner. As long as the share-cropper has the responsibility of farming the land during the growing season on a percentage of the crop or proceeds arrangement, he is a self-employed share-cropper for social security purposes and his net earnings from such work are building old-age and survivors insurance protection for him and his family.

If the farm owner also participates in the crop production, and at the same time, shares responsibility for any losses as well as profits, such an arrangement is more likely to be a business partnership. Both parties, then, are self-employed farmers for social security purposes. I shall discuss such farm partnerships in my next article.

Bob Poage Urges Continued Drouth Feed Program

Agriculture Department officials were told by Rep. Poage (D-Tex.) that the drouth livestock feed program should be continued as long as emergency conditions prevail.

Poage is one of four congressional advisors to the department on drouth relief problems.

"The department is considering abandonment of the feed relief program on Sept. 1," Poage told a reporter.

"They take the position there have been ample and widespread enough rains to justify ending the issuance of certificates entitling drouth-stricken farmers and livestockmen to various quantities of feed."

Poage said he told Scott a number of Texas counties, especially in the southern and northwestern parts of the state, have received little or no rain.

Board Votes To Keep Depository At Citizens Bank

Cameron School Board members dug into an agenda packed with matters important to the school and residents of this school district at their special meeting Monday evening and dispensed with every item in record time.

Among the first matters up for discussion was the completion of the boards discussion on a school depository for the coming year.

At the last regular meeting of the board it was brought up by representatives of the First National Bank that their establishment had turned in the lowest bid and they felt that they should have been awarded the school depository for the coming biennial.

Board members pointed out that they cast no reflection on the First National Bank at all when they changed the depository, but felt that in some respects the Citizens bank bid was the better, and also felt that since the First National had been their depository for the past eight years, the other bank, by all rights, should be given an opportunity to handle the funds, since they were public funds and should not remain indefinitely in one place.

In a letter to the board members from their attorney, W. C. Wallace, similar cases taken before the courts were cited, all having the same outcome, that the statutory law gives the board of trustees discretion in selecting the depository, and when that discretion has been exercised and the depository appointed, the authority of the board can not be questioned without clearly proving an abuse of the discretion.

"Based on the authorities cited above," Wallace advised the board in his letter, "It is my opinion that the action of your board on the matter in question was a legal exercise of the discretionary power vested in it under the law."

"For your guidance generally in awarding contracts based on competitive bids, I advise that I find no statute which makes it mandatory that a school board accept a low bid in awarding any particular type of contract. This being the case, you are authorized under your general powers to manage the affairs of the district, to reject any bid you see fit, provided you reserve this right in the advertisement of the bids, and provided further that you do not abuse your discretion in the matter, i.e., that you do not act arbitrarily, unreasonably, or from improper motives; but that you act in good faith, and in furtherance of what you consider the best interest of the school district."

Gene Blake Speaker At Rotary Luncheon

Gene Blake, manager of the local Coca Cola plant, was guest speaker at the regular Rotary Club meeting this week.

In discussing the sizes new coke bottles will take, Blake said that some bottles, "the large economy size" would be about four times larger than the present coke, and another size would be in between these sizes.

There was one guest present, Jim Stone of Waco, a guest of Milton Schiller.

Schiller will be the program chairman at the next regular meeting.

Arthur Munz of the Stampede Valley Community is harvesting Hubam clover. Munz is cutting the Hubam with a reaper and will use a pickup attachment on the combine to complete the operation. Munz estimates that he will make over 200 pounds of clover. This clover is being harvested on the same field that was in oats this year. The oat yield was 25 bushels per acre. On another field, Munz harvested 40 bushels of oats, following clover that had received an application of 400 pounds of superphosphate per acre.

On a small acreage following Hubam clover that had an application of superphosphate, Munz produced 25 bushels of wheat per acre this year. Munz believes that soil improving crops is one of the many ways to improve his farm. He has constructed diversions and field terraces on his farm. A farm pond has been built in order to afford a better distribution of grazing for livestock.

Munz stated Hubam fertilized with 400 pounds of superphosphate, cut for hay, and fed to sheep had increased the wool yield from 7½ pounds to 9½ pounds per head. His lamb crop was 110 percent this year. He attributes this increase in wool and the lamb crop to the heavy application of fertilizer on the clover.

Munz stated that yields of all crops had increased following Hubam sweet clover that had been fertilized.

Farm Bureau Newsletter

There will be a legume and soil building program at the City Park in Cameron on Thursday night, Aug. 18. This meeting is sponsored annually by the County Farm Bureau, the Crops & Conservation Committee of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and the Agricultural Agencies composed of the A.S.C., F.H.A., SCS, and the County Extension Office. Alva Sanders of the local ASC office will explain proposed A.S.C. legume practices for 1956. Ben Spears, agronomist from A & M College will discuss Experiment Station recommendations for a legume program for Milam County Farms.

If agriculture in Milam County is to survive, high cost of production will become very competitive unless farmers mechanize and adopt practices that will go along with mechanization. Soil building and water conservation are a must in producing good yields. In other words, we won't be able to survive on low crop yields.

The public is invited to attend this important meeting. Tell your neighbors.

Dealer-District Group Reveal Conservation Rules

Five principles of soil conservation were outlined to members of the Cen-Tex dealer-district conservation group at their second meeting Monday night by Bob Elder, soils scientist with the Temple work unit of the Soil Conservation Service.

The five points—cover, soil structure, fertility, organic matter, and sound land use—stressed by Elder were tied in to show how they formed the foundation on which soil conservation is built.

Also speaking at the meeting last night was Hal Hartrick of Little River, a member of the board of supervisors of the Cen-Tex Soil Conservation district. Hartrick explained the operational setup of district and how it operates.

Presiding was Chairman Billy Stokes, who was elected at the first meeting of the group on July sion at the end of the fourth inning. A total of $34.70 was collected.

Kiwanis Members Attend Weekend Training at Tahuya

Kiwans representing the entire Texas District left for Camp Tahuya Saturday for a weekend of training necessary to instruct the Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer Scout units in this district. Spokesman for the group stated that after the training, sometime in October, the attending members will pass along their information to adult leaders and committee members, in an effort to gain more leaders and better train the current ones.

The attending group, with some of the men planning to leave early and take in a little fishing, are Bob Nelson, W. Loughmiller, Leonard Green, III, Rev. H. M. Bowley, Forrest Sapp, Ed Laywell, Dr. John Bryson and Allen Dodson.

The American Red Cross conducted 318 disaster relief operations last year in 47 states and territories, and gave emergency mass care to 62,000 persons assisted 7,100 families with individual financial aid.

Then there is the man who spent a thousand dollars to cure his halitosis only to discover that nobody liked him anyway.

Cameron All-Stars Edge Rockdale Team 3-2 Friday Night

Cameron Little League All Stars tangled with the Rockdale Little League All Star baseball team Friday night at the Rockdale Little League field.

Fifteen players and approximately twelve or fifteen mother and father of Cameron players plus two hundred Rockdale fans turned out despite threatening rain. The game was temporarily stopped during the fifth inning because of a light shower. The game was called during the last half of the sixth inning because of rain. The Cameron Little Leaguers leading by a score of 3 to 2.

Both teams played fine type of baseball showing the results of training received in the Recreational programs sponsored by both Cameron and Rockdale. Rockdale and Cameron managers expressed the desire to have an All Star game each year. A free will offering was taken during intermis-

Farm People Ask About Social Security

by James B. Marley

District Manager of the Austin, Texas social security office.

Today - and every day - more and more farmers and farmhands and people who earn a living in other kinds of agricultural activity are asking us whether they will get social security credits for their work.

In farming, just as in most other kinds of work, earnings can count toward old-age and survivors insurance benefits only if you are "employed" or "self-employed."

By and large, most persons whose living is derived from some kind of agricultural work are now covered by social security. They may be covered as "employed" or "self-employed" people. While it is fairly easy to tell whether a person engaged in commerce or industry, or one of the covered professions, works for himself or is a wage or salary earner, the arrangements under which farming is done are often more complicated. For this reason, I am going to devote this series of brief articles to the several conditions which apply to farm work in relation to social security.

In the articles to follow, I shall discuss separately the various arrangements under which farming is done. Right now, however, I want to make a general statement. You are building toward old-age and survivors insurance as a self-employed farmer if you work a farm as owner, lessee, or renter and have net earnings of $400 or more in a year.

In my next article, I shall discuss in detail the various farming arrangements under which a person gets social security credits as a self-employed farmer.

A person who is hired to do farm or other agricultural work can generally tell whether his cash wages count toward his social security. However, a farm owner has several things to consider before he can tell whether his earnings can be counted.

For instance, the mere ownership of farm property does not mean that your net earnings from the property can be credited to your social security account. It is necessary that you actually engage in the operation of the farm. This you may do alone, or under a partnership or joint venture arrangement. You may operate the farm with or without hired help. If, as an owner, lessee, or share cropper, you actually engage in the operation of the farm, you are a self-employed farmer for social security purposes, and your net earnings of $400 or more in a year for any year after 1954 can be credited to your social security account.

On the other hand, if you own a farm but rent it out on cash or sharecrop rental arrangement, your income from that source can not be counted as selfemployment earnings for social security purposes. In such cases, the earnings the farm owner derived from the farm property are considered to be rentals from real estate. This is so, whether the rental is paid to him in cash or in a share of total of real estate of any kind are not earnings from selfemployment for social security purposes (unless you are a real estate dealer). Of course, you may rent part of your land, and actually operate other parts of it yourself. Your income from that part which you yourself operate will count as earnings from selfemployment.

If you are a farm operator and also have selfemployment earnings from a nonfarm enterprise covered by the law, the earnings from both enterprises up to a total of $4,200 in a year can be credited to your social security account. For example: if, in addition to operating a farm, you also operate a store or filling station, your combined net earnings from both activities can be credited to your social security account.

Moreover, if, in addition to operating a farm, you also work part of the year in employment for wages, you will get social security credit from those earnings, too. In such cases, the wages will count first, and you will report and pay the social security self-employment tax on only enough of your farm earnings to bring the combined total for the year up to $4,200.

As I said at the beginning of this article, a farm operator need not be a farm owner. He may be a lessee or a renter on either a cash or share of the crop basis. In my next article, I shall discuss the sharecropper as a self-employed farmer under social security.

Kiwanis to Sponsor Pan-cake Supper; Committee Appointed

After much discussion on plans for a permanent meeting place, Kiwanis Club members appointed a committee of three to investigate the problem and turn in their recommendations at the next regular meeting.

Members of the committee are Charles Howard, Guy Clements, Forrest Sapp, and Jack Tumlinson.

During the business session, with Wiley Loughmiller presiding, it was decided that with the coming of cool weather the organization will sponsor a pan-cake supper, working in cooperation with some flour company which will furnish the ready-mixed cakes.

Bassel Wilson will be the program chairman at the next regular meeting.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Posival were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Posival of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Posival, Jr., of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hundle of Buckholts and Mrs. Willie Rosechitzky and Janie of Hanover.

Twenty-three countries represented in the League of Red Cross Societies have contributed a total of $310,000 in financial aid, clothing, food, and household supplies to refugees in South Vietnam.

Cokes Increase Five Cents a Case Manager Reports

Gene Blake, manager of the local Coca Cola Bottling plant, stated that the over-all increase on the price of cokes amounted to only five cents per case.

Blake also reported that several new size changes in coke containers is slated for the near future. One of the new containers the local plant is planning to come out with is a pre-mix coke, packed in 100 drink stainless steel containers, which would be suitable for use at any gathering. He said there are several other type containers also slated to go on the market in the near future.

New equipment is now being installed at the local plant, necessary to handle the packaging of the drink in the new type containers.

After-Dinner Speaker Gets His "Deserts"

"Red" Thomas tells about a dinner party he and his Missus went to in Center City last week. He said it was a wonderful party—except for one guest who was a real "know-it-all," right from the start.

Whatever the subject, this fellow considered himself an "expert." Wasn't quiet about it, either. He told different people what automobile to buy, what books to read—even told some who they "just had" to vote for.

When it came time to leave, this fellow must've felt a pang of conscience. He turned to the hostess and said: "I suppose I was a bit outspoken tonight." Quickly she replied, "Of course not. No one could have out-spoken you."

From where I sit, it's all right to have opinions as long as you don't try to force them on neighbors. Take those who would deny me an occasional glass of beer simply because they prefer something else. They're welcome to their choice but shouldn't try to force me to be a "party" to it!

No Injuries In Taxi-Cab Mishap Wednesday Morning

Two opinions have been expressed in the automobile accident Wednesday when the taxi-cab driven by David Miller and owned by the Lonnie Armstrong Taxi Company, and the automobile driven by Mrs. Syble Schononer of Shamrock, Texas collided at the intersection of West Main and Travis.

Sheriff Carl Black, who investigated the case in which none of the parties were injured, stated that Mrs. Schononer was over half way across the street when the taxi struck her car in the middle of the door. Armstrong, owner of the cab company stated that his driver, Miller, said the lady did not stop for a stop-sign. Armstrong added that Miller had been working for the company for about six years and this is his first accident.

Damage was estimated at approximately $1,000 to the automobiles involved.

No charges have been filed.

Plymouth, biggest of the low-price 3, is also

BIGGER THAN CARS COSTING $500 MORE

Get the biggest value in town! You get big-car size, big-car beauty and big-car comfort at the lowest possible price when you choose a big 17-foot-long Plymouth.

Even many medium-price cars (let alone the other two low-price cars, which aren't nearly as long, as roomy, as heavy or as handsome as Plymouth) can't match Plymouth for over-all size and value. In fact, you could spend as much as $500 more and still not get a car as big as Plymouth.

So don't be fooled by misleading claims! Compare price tags and you'll immediately see that, model for model, Plymouth sells for much less than medium-price cars and gives you much more car for your money.

Get the biggest deal in town! With sales piping hot, your Plymouth dealer is able right now to give you the biggest, sweetest deal of the year on a new '55 Plymouth. He's ready to offer you a sky-high allowance for your present car—probably much more than you'd expect!

What's more, he'll be glad to arrange quick, easy financing. Better hurry over to see him now.

Plymouth named "America's Most Beautiful Car" by famous professional artists, the Society of Illustrators
